PREFACE.

NOTHING which is natural is entirely useless. Dreams must be intended for some purpose. About one-third of our existence is passed in sleep; and during sleep we often dream. Why is this? Does the mind naturally and irresistibly act in a certain way, while we sleep, and this without any possible useful purpose? Certainly not. Common sense, philosophy, and history will contradict this supposition. Mankind, in all ages and countries, have agreed in believing that dreams have a spiritual origin, and to a certain extent, a useful purpose.

We know by the sacred Scriptures, and by ancient history, that dreams of a prophetic character took place in many instances in the early ages of the world: and that the courts of the Oriental sovereigns were attended by learned men, whose business it was to interpret dreams. In modern times innumerable instances have been recorded of dreams, whose symbolical or prophetic character has been attested by their fulfilment.

The popular belief that dreams are sometimes prophetic, is shared by many scientific and intelligent writers in various parts of the world.

Considering the wide prevalence of this belief, it is by no means surprising to find that persons have undertaken to trace the connection between dreams and the events which they are supposed to predict. They have published books in which the whole matter is reduced to system; and have enunciated the laws of Oneirology as authoritatively as others have set forth those of Physics or Mental Philosophy. This volume exhibits a specimen of these "Dream Books." If the reader cannot bring himself to assent to these interpretations of dreams, he will at least find a great deal of entertainment in reading them.

They afford a specimen of those theories which have entered very largely into the popular belief—a belief which, to a certain extent, is undoubtedly founded on observation of facts, and a comparison of dreams with the events which followed them.

REMARKS ON DREAMS,

And how those engaged in the various Trades and Professions are affected by them.

THAT may be called a dream which proceeds either from the spirit of the phantasy and intellect united together, or by the illustration of the agent intellect above our souls, or by the true revelation of some divine power in a quiet and purified mind; for by this our soul receives true oracles, and abundantly yields prophecies to us; as in dreams we seem both to ask questions and learn to find them out. Also many doubtful things, many policies, many things unknown, unwished for, and never attempted by our minds, are manifested to us in dreams; also the representation of things unknown, and unknown places, also appear to us, and the images of men, both alive and dead: and things to come are foretold, and also which at any time have happened are revealed, which we know not by any report. And these kind of dreams need not any interpretation, as those which belong to divination, not to foreknowledge; and it comes to pass that they who have dreams for the most part understand them not; for as to have dreams is from the strength of imagination, so to understand them is from the strength of understanding. He, therefore, whose intellect being overwhelmed by too much commerce of the flesh, is in a deep sleep, or his fantastic power, or spirit is too dull and unpolished, so that it cannot receive the species and representation which flow from the superior intellect; this man, I say, is altogether unfit for the receiving of dreams and prophesying by them. Therefore it is necessary that he who would receive true dreams, should keep a pure, undisturbed, and imaginative spirit: and so compose it that it may be made worthy of the knowledge and government by the mind, for such a spirit is most fit for prophesying, and in a most clear glass of all images which flow everywhere from all things. When, therefore, we are sound in body, not disturbed in mind, our intellect not made dull by heavy meats and strong drink, not sad through poverty, nor provoked through lust, nor incited by any vice, nor stirred up by wrath or anger, not being irreligiously and profanely inclined, not given to levity, nor lost in drunkenness; but chastely going to bed, fall asleep, then our pure and divine soul being free from all the evils above recited, and separated from all hurtful thoughts, and now freed, by dreaming, is endowed with this divine spirit as an instrument, and doth receive those beams and representations which are darted down as it were, and shine forth from the divine mind into itself, in a deifying glass. It does more certainly, more clearly, and efficaciously behold all things, than by the vulgar inquiry of the intellect, and by the discourse of reason. The divine person instructing the soul, being invited to their society by the opportunity of the nocturnal solitariness, neither will that spirit of genius be wanting to him when he is awake, which rules all our actions. But there are four kinds of true dreams, viz., the first, matutine, i. e., between sleeping and waking; the second, that which one sees concerning another; the third, that whose interpretation is shown to the same dreamer in the nocturnal vision; and, lastly, that which is related to the same dreamer in the nocturnal vision. But natural things and their own co-mixtures do likewise belong unto wise men, and we often use such to receive oracles from a spirit by a dream, which are either by perfumes, unctions, meats, drinks, rings, seals, etc. Now those who are desirous to receive oracles in or through a dream, let them make themselves a ring of the sun or Saturn for this purpose. There are likewise images of dreams, which being put under the head when he goes to sleep, doth effectually have true dreams of whatever the mind hath before determined of which is as follows:

Thou shalt make an image of the sun, the figure whereof must be a man sleeping upon the bosom of an angel; which thou shalt make when Leo ascends, the sun being in the ninth house in Aries: then you must write upon the figure the name of the effect desired, and in the hand of the angel the name and character of the intelligence of the sun, which is Michael.

Let the same image be made in Virgo ascending, Mercury being fortunate in Aries in the ninth, or Gemini ascending, Mercury being fortunate in the ninth house in Aquarius; and let him be received by Saturn with a fortunate aspect, and let the name of the spirit (which is Raphael) be written upon it. Let the same likewise be made, Libra ascending, Venus being received from Mercury in Gemini in the ninth house, and write upon it the name of the angel of Venus (which is Annael). Again you make the same image, Aquarius ascending, Saturn fortunately possessing the ninth in his exaltation, which is Libra, and let there be written upon it the name of the angel of Saturn (which is Cassi-al). The same may be made with Cancer ascending, the moon being received by Jupiter and Venus is Pisces, and being fortunately placed in the ninth house, and write upon it the spirit of the moon (which is Gabriel).

There are likewise made rings of dreams of wonderful efficacy, and there are rings of the Sun and Saturn, and the constellation of them is when the Sun or Saturn ascend in their exaltation in the ninth house of the nativity, and write and engrave upon the rings the name of the Sun or Saturn, and by these rules you may know how and by what means to constitute more of yourself. But know this, that such images work nothing (as they are simply images), except they are vivified by a spiritual and celestial virtue and chiefly by the ardent desire and firm intent of the soul of the operator. But who can give a soul to an image, or make a stone, or metal, or clay, or wood, or wax, or paper to live? Certainly no man whatever; for this arcanum doth not enter into an artist of a stiff neck: he only hath it, who transcends the progress of angels, and comes to the very Archtype himself. The tables of numbers likewise confer to the receiving of oracles, being duly formed under their own constellations.

Therefore he who is desirous of receiving true oracles by dreams, let him abstain from supper, from drink, and be otherwise well disposed, so his brain will be free from turbulent vapors; let him also have his bedchamber fair and clean, exorcised and consecrated, then let him perfume the same with some convenient fumigation, and let him anoint his temples with some unguent efficacious hereunto, and put a ring of dreams upon his finger; then let him take one of the images we have spoken of, and place the same under his head; then let him address himself to sleep, meditating upon that thing which he desires to know. So shall he receive a most certain and undoubted oracle by a dream, when the moon goes through the sign of the ninth revolution of his nativity, and when she is in the ninth sign from the sign of perfection.

This is the way whereby we may obtain all sciences and arts whatsoever, whether astrology, occult philosophy, physic, etc.; or else suddenly and perfectly with a true illumination of our intellect, although all inferior familiar spirits whatsoever conduce to this effect, and sometimes also evil spirits sensibly inform us intrinsically and extrinsically.

It would be unwise, and highly censurable for any one to foster and encourage an entire credence in the prognostications of every dream that visits our sleeping hours; and, on the other hand, it would be equally so in skeptically disregarding those admonitions which, for some wise purpose, are frequently given us during the time of sleep. To be entirely the victim of the first, would make our lives miserable; and the utter disbelief of all premonitions in dreams, has many times been attended with disastrous consequences. History, both ancient and modern, abounds with instances of the benefits which have accrued to those who have been "forewarned, and were forearmed" against impending evils, which had been revealed to them in their dreams. And, alas! how many have had to regret that they did not pay more attention to the "silent messenger" which visited them when enjoying "nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep."

When Royal heads are laid upon the pillow, balmy sleep is often accompanied by dreams either of a pleasant or a painful nature; therefore it behooves even those to pay attention to the silent monitor. History, both sacred and profane, records instances of the royal mind being troubled or pleased, according to the nature of the dream. When their dreams are of aggrandizement and unlimited power by unjust means, their schemes and plans will be often thwarted, and some painful event will occur

If a member of the Aristocracy dreams of being engaged in some intrigue or disreputable project, he or she may be sure that trouble and affliction will shortly visit the dreamer. If, on the other hand, he or she should dream of being the promoter and encourager of some benevolent and philanthropic project, the dreamer will, ere long, be gladdened by having an additional honor added to his or her title.

Should the Statesman dream of being engaged in propounding and enacting arbitrary and unjust laws to curtail the liberty of the people, it is very probable that he will be speedily called upon to submit to defeat, and have to retire into private life. Should he, on the contrary, dream that he is engaged in propounding and enacting wise and just measures for the benefit of the people, he may rest assured that his exalted station will shortly be further honored by his sovereign's and the nation's gratitude.

If a Bishop should dream that he has been translated to a see of greater emolument, he will shortly be called upon to endure trials of no ordinary nature.

Should a Dissenting Minister dream that he has received a call from a congregation where the emoluments are far greater than those he at present receives, he will speedily be called upon to endure heavy trouble by schisms and dissensions in the church over which he presides.

If a Judge of our criminal courts dreams that he is passing the last sentence of the law upon a convicted criminal, he must not be surprised if he is called upon soon to endure some severe domestic affliction; but if he should dream that he is discharging a prisoner after an honorable acquittal, he will speedily be gratified by learning that some signal honors are about to be conferred upon him.

If an Attorney should dream that he is engaged in a case in which his fees will be extraordinarily large, he must not be surprised if he is soon doomed to suffer an ignominious defeat.

Should a Banker dream that public confidence in his stability is shaken and disturbed, he will shortly be gladdened by having extraordinary large deposits placed under his care.

If a Ship-owner should dream that one or more of his vessels are lost at sea, he will, ere long, be rejoiced to learn that the disaster foreshadowed in his dream has been happily averted, though his ships have been in imminent danger.

If a Merchant should dream that a large consignment of his goods has been lost at sea, he will soon be gladdened by a communication that the said goods have been disposed of to a very great advantage.

Should a Manufacturer dream he has suffered great loss by the failure of a house with which he has been doing business, he will shortly be rejoiced to learn not only that the house is safe, but that some old outstanding debts, which he never expected to recover, have been paid to his account.

If an Engineer should dream that a project which he had propounded and attempted to carry out for overcoming some difficulty had proved abortive, it is a sign that he will soon be gratified by learning that his name has been placed amongst those set apart for honorary distinction in that profession.

Should an Accountant dream that his calculations are correct to the smallest iota, he will soon be chagrined by having an intimation given to him that his future services will be dispensed with.

If a Clerk in a counting-house should dream that he has made some egregious blunder in his books, he will soon be gratified by having the commendation of his employer for the correct manner in which he keeps his books.

If a Tailor should dream that he has had a garment thrown on his hands on account of its being a misfit, he will shortly be highly gratified by witnessing a large increase of patronage from wealthy persons.

Should a Boot and Shoemaker dream that he has executed some orders that will enhance his fame as a first-rate hand in the trade, it is a sign that he will be unsuccessful in business, and losses will fall upon him.

If a Hatter should dream that he had lost a good customer by forcing upon him a hat which was imperfectly finished, he will shortly be gratified by receiving a large order from a trustworthy foreign house.

Should a Hosier dream that he has fully established himself in his business, by the superiority of his hose over every one in the trade, it is a significant intimation that his transactions in trade will fall off, his former customers go elsewhere, and he will soon have to shut up his shop.

If a Cabinetmaker dreams that his premises, wherein he has a large stock of costly furniture, have taken fire and been all consumed, he will, in a short time, be rejoiced by receiving orders from several wealthy families for some of the most costly articles in his storeroom.

Should an Ironmonger dream that he has suffered a serious loss by the failure of a person in the building trade, one of his best customers, he will soon have to rejoice from the fact that his business is increasing, and that the builder is not only solvent but in a prosperous position.

If a Jeweller should dream that his premises have been burglariously entered by thieves, and a large portion of his valuable property carried off, he will speedily be gladdened by receiving an intimation that by the death of a relative some valuable property has been left to him.

Should a Bookseller dream that his property has been seriously damaged by a destructive fire occurring in a neighboring building, he will shortly be gratified by witnessing an increase in his business, and the acquisition of a large number of wealthy customers.

If a Shopkeeper should dream that a customer has absconded without paying his bill, he will be gladdened by receiving the amount of his claim and several fresh customers.

If a person engaged in some Mental employment should dream that he has made some serious error, either in calculation or grammatical accuracy, such person will soon be overjoyed by learning that he is about to be advanced to a position far above that which he at present holds.

If a Workman in any kind of mechanical labor should dream that he has a disagreement with his employer, or a quarrel with a fellow workman, he may rest assured that he is about to be called upon to endure some heavy trouble and affliction.

If a Soldier with his regiment, on foreign service, dreams of home and absent relatives and friends, it is a sign that he will be shortly ordered to engage in some enterprise of a difficult and dangerous nature.

Should a Sailor, whilst slung in his hammock, dream of home and those dear to him left behind, it is a warning to him that he will shortly be exposed to imminent danger from the wreck of the vessel in which he is sailing.

If an Agricultural Laborer dreams that he is attending to the plough, and that the horses become so restive and unmanageable that he is obliged to give them a severe whipping, it behoves him to be very careful, or, the next time he is engaged in this employment, those very horses may be the instruments whereby he may come to a violent death.

Should a Gardener dream that a sudden blight has fallen upon some favorite plants, which he has attended to with anxious solicitude, it is a sign that he will shortly be gratified by receiving the commendations of his employer for the neat, judicious, and skilful manner in which he has fulfilled his duties.

If a Groom dreams that he has received a serious injury by a kick from one of the horses under his care, he will be rejoiced to hear that a large legacy has been left to him.

Should a Butler dream that some thieves have broken into the wine-cellar and carried away a large quantity of the choicest wine, he will, ere long, be overjoyed by learning that his salary has been considerably increased.

If a Footman should dream that he has lost his situation through the slanders and misrepresentations of an enemy, he will shortly be rejoiced to learn that by the death of a relative he has had a large fortune left to him.

Should the Coachman dream that the carriage has been overturned and himself and the occupants of the carriage seriously injured, it is a sign that he will soon be dismissed from his situation with a bad character.

If a Governess should dream that one or more of her youthful pupils seems inattentive to her instructions, and manifests a disobedient and refractory spirit, she may expect soon to learn that a young gentleman, to whom she is tenderly attached, is about to offer her his hand and heart in marriage. If, on the other hand, she should dream that her pupils are docile and attentive, and that her duties are exceedingly pleasant, it is more than probable that she will shortly be assailed by severe and heavy trials, from which her health will be seriously impaired.

Should a Lady's Maid dream that she has had a serious quarrel with her mistress, and is apprehensive that she will have to leave her situation, it behoves her to be on her guard, for the stability of her chastity will be soon tested by one to whom she has long given her affections.

If a Cook dreams that she has so skilfully fulfilled her duties that she has received the praises and commendations of her master and mistress, she may rest assured that heavy troubles and afflictions are about to visit her.

Should a House Maid dream that she has quarrelled with another servant, and that her mistress has threatened to discharge them both, she must not be surprised if, ere long, she meets a young man, who has been paying his addresses to her, walking out with another young woman arm-in-arm.

If a Nurse Maid dreams that one of the children under her care is seized with a sudden severe indisposition, it is a sign that she will shortly be addressed by a young man of good qualities, and every way worthy of her regard.

If a Servant of all Work dreams that she has got a fellow servant (with whom she is at enmity) discharged from her situation by tale-telling, the dreamer must not be surprised if soon compelled to abandon her situation on account of overstepping the bounds of modesty and virtue.

Should a Laundress dream that she has accidentally spoiled some linen under her care, she will shortly be overjoyed by learning that a handsome legacy has been left to her by a distant relative lately deceased.

If a Milliner dreams that she has secured the patronage of some ladies of wealth and influence, it is a sign that she will soon be visited with heavy trials, losses in business, and eventually come to extreme poverty.

Should a Dressmaker dream that she has unfortunately offended one of her best customers, by making her a dress that does not fit her, it is a signification that the dreamer will soon hear some tidings that will fill her soul with joy and gladness.

Should the Wife of a working man dream that her husband has lost his situation through his own misconduct, she will soon be rejoiced to learn that he has been advanced to another department of labor, in which his weekly earnings will be considerably larger than they have heretofore been.

If a Widow dreams that she has again been solicited to enter into the married state, it is a certain token that she will soon be visited with severe indisposition, and perhaps death.

Should the Mother of a Soldier dream that her son is exposed to some imminent danger that threatens his life, she will soon be overjoyed by receiving a communication from him that he is in good health, and that he has been promoted to a higher grade in his profession.

If the Mother of a Sailor dreams that her son has been extremely fortunate in his voyage, and that she sees him with heaps of gold in his possession, she will, ere long, be weighed down with trouble by learning that the ship in which he sailed has been wrecked, and all on board drowned.

Should the Wife of a Sailor dream that the vessel in which her husband sailed has been wrecked, and all on board engulphed in the briny deep, she will shortly be agreeably surprised by receiving a communication from her husband stating that he has landed again on his native shores, having been extremely fortunate in foreign parts; and that he will soon pay her a visit, and present her with some valuable tokens of his affection.

If the Wife of a Soldier dreams that her husband is extremely fortunate in the profession in which he has engaged, and that he has been often promoted; she will soon be distressed to learn that through misconduct he has incurred the displeasure of his superiors, and undergone severe military discipline; and that he is languishing in the hospital by reason of the punishment he has received for insubordination.

If a Spinster should dream that she has had an offer of marriage, and refused it, she will shortly be visited with a severe and protracted affliction.

Should the Mother of a wild and dissipated son dream that the object of her solicitude has broken the laws of his country, and has been apprehended and lodged in prison; she will soon be overjoyed by learning that an extraordinary instance of good fortune has happened to her in having a large legacy bequeathed to her by a deceased brother.

If a Sister should dream that some serious accident has happened to her brother, for whom she has a strong sisterly affection, and that his life is in great jeopardy; she will shortly, if unmarried, be highly gratified by a proposal of marriage being offered to her by a sober, steady, young man, who is in a very good position in life; if the dreamer should be a married woman, then she will be soon gladdened by witnessing her domestic comforts greatly increased.

Should the Wife of a man engaged in any hazardous employment, such as coal miner, railway-engine driver, etc., dream that some fatal casualty has happened to her husband in his occupation; she will shortly have the pleasure of learning that an extraordinary instance of good fortune has been conferred on her by having a large sum of money left her.

Finally, we would remark that a careful remembrance of any remarkable dream, and a reference to the pages of this work will enable us to ascertain with some degree of certainty what destiny fate has in store for us; what success will attend our undertakings, or whether happiness or sorrow awaits us; at the same time, we are constrained to acknowledge that a great deal depends upon our own line of conduct, for, by strictly discharging our duty to God and man, we may avert evils and withstand temptations of no ordinary character, and our latter days may be marked with a tranquillity of mind, that a consciousness of having done our duty alone can bestow.

THE MYSTIC DREAM BOOK.

Abandon.—To dream you abandon your lover, wife, or husband, is a sure proof of increased affection for you; but if they abandon you, that some event is about to occur that will require great vigilance on your part to prevent evil.

Abbess or Abbey.—To dream you see either an Abbess or Abbey, signifies some insidious person is grossly deceiving you. If you are in love, see well to the companions of your lover to avoid the mischief portending.

Abettor.—To dream some one is abetting you in your wishes or schemes, means that you will fail in that which you desire or are attempting.

Abhorrence.—To dream of seeing or hearing anything that causes great abhorrence, signifies the most successful issue of all your undertakings.

Abode.—That you find yourself in a strange abode, foretells sudden and unlooked-for change in your fortunes; but, if refused admittance, or ejected, that danger is in your path, but may be overcome by prudence.

Abortion.—To dream of abortion, signifies that ill-luck has been overcome, and that prosperity is in store.

Absence.—To dream of any absent friends,

Good news of them, or ill, portends;
But, if at thy bedside they seem,
Their deaths, perhaps, may solve thy dream.

Abuse.—To dream that you are abused and insulted, is a certain sign that some dispute will happen between you and some person with whom you have business; therefore, after such a dream you should be particularly careful of yourself, and be as gentle and mild as possible, that you may not give those with whom you have dealings any advantage over you.

Abyss.—To dream that you fall into an abyss, denotes illness to yourself—that you will lose the attention of your lover—that your husband or wife is unfaithful—that your friends will desert you.

Accept.—If you dream that you accept or are accepted by a lover, or one able to promote your welfare, betokens that you will have little chance of having your wishes gratified, and ought to urge you to great wariness.

Accident.—To dream that an accident occurs to you, portends great success; if you see an accident to another, beware of false friends.

Acorns.—To dream of acorns do not slight,
It promises both strength and might.

Acquaintance.—To dream that you fight with them, signifies distraction, especially if the person so dreaming be sick.

Action.—To dream that you are sent on an errand, signifies great loss to the married; to the lover it denotes success to his pursuits, and that he will shortly marry a very amiable and accomplished maiden. For a maiden to dream that she was sent on an errand, denotes that she will shortly marry the object of her affections, and be very happy; to the sick, it denotes a speedy recovery.

Adam.—To dream you see this father of men, this inhabitant of Paradise, who was betrayed by Eve into sin, is a happy omen. If he looks pleasant be sure you will succeed in whatever you undertake. If he looks displeased and angry, then you must use great caution in all your dealings, for some mischief is intended you, but you will get the better of it. Be careful, if he speaks to you, to mind what he says, and observe it as faithfully as you possibly can.

Adieu.—To dream you are bidding adieu to your friends, portends sickness and misfortune.

Admirer.—To dream of your admirers, ensures the realization of your wishes.

Adversary.—To dream that you receive obstruction from him, shows that you will despatch your business quickly.

Ague.—To dream you have an ague, denotes nothing very particular, more than that you are in danger of becoming a drunkard and a glutton. To dream your sweetheart has an ague, is a lucky omen; it shows you are beloved, and that you will be happy with the object of your wishes, but never very rich.

Air.—To dream of the atmosphere has a variety of interpretations, and depends entirely on the different appearances it has. If you dream the sky is clear, of a fine blue, calm and serene, then it is a good omen. To dream it is streaked with white, denotes that many severe difficulties will befall you, over which you will eventually triumph. To dream that it was full of thick, dark and heavy clouds, is an unfavorable token; disappointments will attend you. To dream that the sky is streaked with red and looks fiery, denotes that in love you will be successful, in business not so; it also forewarns you that sickness and trouble will attend your family.

Almonds.—To dream one sees or eats almonds, signifies difficulties and troubles.

Alms.—To dream that they are begged of you, and you deny to give them, shows want and misery to the dreamer; but to dream that you give them freely is a sign of joy and long life.

Alone.—'Tis good to dream thou'rt left alone,
A friend thou hast on the highest throne.

Altar.—To dream you uncover or discover an altar, betokens joy and gladness.

Anchor.—To dream you see one, signifies great assurance and certain hope.

Angel.—To dream you see an angel is good, but to speak with or call upon them is evil.

Anger.—To dream that you have been provoked to anger, shows that you have powerful enemies.

Angling.—To dream that you are angling, betokens much affliction and trouble in something which you desire to get.

Animals.—Dreaming of domestic animals signifies the happy return of absent friends, peaceful domestic relations, and reconciliation of quarrels. Wild animals signify secret enemies, of whom beware, as to dream thus, will bring trouble from them.

Ants.—To dream of these industrious little insects, hath a variety of interpretations, and depends upon the manner in which you dream of them; if you see them running about, it denotes that you will be a great loser by some plan that you will undertake for gain. If you dream you see them busily employed laying in their winter stores, it is a good omen—things will prosper with you. If they appear to be devoured by other animals, and otherwise injured and trodden upon, then it is a bad omen. If you dream of these insects when you are sick, you must expect to recover very slowly, and be a long time before you are able to be about.

Apes.—To dream you have seen or had anything to do with them, signifies malicious, weak, strange and secret enemies; also a malefactor and deceiver.

Appetite.—To dream of unsatisfied hunger, signifies disappointment in your favorite plans. Satisfied hunger, if the imaginary repast be bountiful, signifies that you will inherit a large fortune.

Apparel.—Nothing more demonstrates the events that are about to happen to you, than dreaming of wearing apparel; but almost every color has a different interpretation, and must depend on its appearing new or old, its fitting you, or being too big or too little. To dream you are dressed in white, is a sure token of success in the first object you undertake, and that you will be successful in love, and that your beloved is of a good temper and amiable disposition. To dream you are dressed in green, denotes that you are about to take a journey to your advantage, and that your beloved prefers you to all other lovers. To dream that you are dressed in black is an unlucky omen. To dream that you are dressed in blue, denotes happiness. If you dream you are dressed in scarlet, you are thereby warned of some very heavy calamity. To dream you are dressed in yellow, is rather lucky than otherwise. To dream you are dressed in crimson, denotes that you will live to a good old age, and neither very fortunate or unfortunate through life; it denotes a small dispute between a landlord and his tenant, which will be settled amicably to the advantage of the latter. To dream that you are dressed in a variety of colors, denotes a variety of fortunes are about to attend you. To dream you are fashionably dressed and in good company is very good for the dreamer; he will rise considerably above his present condition. To dream your clothes fit you well, and are conformable to the season of the year, is favorable and denotes success. To dream your clothes do not fit you, and that they are not suitable to the season, denotes the death of some friend, and a loss by fire. To dream you see another dressed in any of the modes above described, forbodes to the person dreamt of the same fortunes; and, in a much smaller degree, the same events to yourself. To dream you are dressed in new clothes, is a very favorable omen; it portends honors and success to your undertakings.

Apparitions.—To dream you see a ghost, hobgoblin, spectre, and such kind of things, is of a very unfortunate nature; it denotes vexation and disappointment; if you are in love, it is a certain sign of your not being beloved in return, depend upon it, some one is about to deceive you, and that you are in habits of friendship with one who is your most inveterate enemy. To dream you see an apparition, or spirit, clothed in white, signifies deceit and temptation to sin.

Apples.—To dream of apples betokens long life and success, faithfulness in your lover, and riches by trade.

Apricots.—To dream of apricots denotes health and prosperity, a speedy marriage, dutiful children and success in love.

Arms.—To dream your arms are withered is a certain sign that you will decay in health and fortune. To dream they are grown strong, signifies that some unexpected success will attend you. To dream your right arm is cut off, denotes you will lose some near male relation; to dream your left arm is cut off, denotes you will lose some near female relative. For a married woman to dream her arms have grown lusty and strong, denotes that she will have many male children, that her husband will arrive at public honors, and will grow rich and make many friends.

Armed Men.—To see them in your dream is a good sign, and denotes one void of fear; to dream you see an armed man fly is a sign of victory; to see men come in arms against you, signifies sadness.

Ascend.—For persons to dream they ascend toward the skies is favorable; particularly so if the clouds appear bright.

Assassin.—To dream of an assassin is a warning not to be neglected. Shun all pretending friends, lend no money, be ever on your guard, and you may escape destruction, which is planned for your ruin.

Asses.—To dream you see jackasses, is a good sign. To dream you are riding on an ass, is the forerunner of some foolish quarrel. To dream that you are driving an ass, denotes that you will fall into some trouble, of which you will get the better. To dream an ass runs after you, denotes that some slander will be raised against you by some foolish persons who will become themselves the victims of the scandal raised against you. To dream you see an ass full loaded, is of very good import, and shows that you will be the founder of your own fortune.

Attorney.—To dream that you are speaking with them, shows hindrance of business, and that a man shall have little success in his affairs.

Auction.—To dream you attend an auction is, on the whole, unfavorable. If you purchase, expect loss of property. If you only attend, you are sure to meet with a heavy deprivation of friends and property. If you pass by one, then you will attain, in a few years, all that you moderately desire.

Aunt.—To dream of an aunt, betokens wealth and friends.

Babes.—To dream you have a babe is good. That you nurse a babe, wealth and happiness. That one dies, misfortunes. That you desire to have one, future fortune and prosperity.

Bachelor.—To dream of a bachelor, if he be young, have a care in all your actions, or you will be deceived; but, at the same time be candid and generous in all you do. If he be old, then ill-luck is about to happen.

Back.—To dream you see your back, betokens some uneasiness; for the back to be broken or hurt, shows you will be scoffed at by your enemies; yet to dream of the backbone, signifies health and success in love, marriage and business.

Bacon.—To dream of bacon denotes the death of some friend or relation, and that enemies will endeavor to do you mischief—in love, it denotes disappointment and discontent.

Ball.— Dream you join the festive round,
And joy and pleasure will abound.

Barn.—To dream of a barn, and that you see it well stored with corn, denotes much good; it foretells to a man that he will marry some rich woman; to a maid, that she will marry a man who will grow very rich by his industry, and be promoted in the State. If you dream you see an empty barn, the reverse will happen.

Basin.—To dream of a basin, signifies a good maid; and to dream you eat or drink therein, shows you have a love to the servant maid.

Basket.—For a man to dream of baskets is evil—it denotes decay of business to a merchant, and want of employment to a mechanic, and loss of place to a servant;—but if a woman dreams she receives a number of baskets, it is good, and especially so if well filled;—to a maiden it denotes that she will have many new lovers; to the wife that she will have an increase in her family; and to the widow that she will soon marry again.

Bathing.—To dream of a bath is a very unpropitious omen; expect after it to experience many hardships and much sorrow. If you are in love, your sweetheart will experience many crosses and losses; but to dream you are bathing yourself in clear water, denotes happiness, prosperity and success in love—if the water is dirty, then it foretells shame and sorrow, and a disappointment in love.

Battle.—To dream you see a battle in the streets forewarns you against secret enemies, who will endeavor to harm you—if you are in love, your sweetheart is false to you.

Beans.—To dream you are eating beans, always signifies trouble and dissension.

Beard.—For a man to dream he has a long beard, denotes good fortune; if he is in trade, he will thrive; if he is in love, he will marry the present object of his affections, who will bring him some money; if he is a farmer, it denotes good crops, and an addition to his farm. If a married woman dreams of a beard, it is unlucky—it foretells the loss of her husband, and that she will fall into great distress. If a maid dreams of a beard, it denotes that she will be quickly married. For a woman to dream that she has a beard, is a very lucky omen, and denotes that she will speedily attain her most sanguine desires.

Bear.— To dream a bear thy steps pursues,
A cruel foe some mischief brews.

Bees.—To dream they sting you, denotes loss of good character; and if you are in love, of your sweetheart. To dream you see them at work, is a very lucky dream—it forebodes great success by your own industry. To dream you see them making their honey under your own roof, is the best omen in the world. For the rich to dream of bees is rather unlucky; but to the poor they denote comfort, affluence and success.

Beets.—To dream of eating beets, signifies freedom from trouble, and expedition of business; because they make the body soluble.

Flesh.—If any one dreams he is increased in flesh, he will gain wealth. On the contrary, if he dreams he is grown lean and thin, if he be rich, he will grow poor, or at least conceal his wealth, and he will be in a mean condition. To dream of eating all sorts of meat, whether flesh or fish, signifies either neglect of business, or anger and sickness.

Flies.—To dream of a swarm of flies, denotes that you have many enemies; it also denotes that your sweetheart is not sincere, and cares but little about you; to dream you kill them is a very good omen.

Flute.—To dream you play or hear the playing on a flute, signifies trouble and contention.

Fool.—For a man to dream he is a fool is good for those who would govern and teach children.

Folly.—For a woman to dream she is become foolish, and is publicly guilty of folly, is a sign she will have a boy, who in time will grow great; if a maid, she will be speedily married, and that to an honest man.

Forest.—To dream that you are walking in a forest, signifies trouble.

Fields.—To dream you are in green fields is a very favorable omen. To dream you are in ploughed fields, forbodes some severe disputes that will be brought upon you by some person who has no children. To the lover, it denotes disappointment; to the married, unhappiness and undutiful children. To the tradesman, loss of business and a prison. To dream you are in a meadow covered with flowers, is a very favorable omen: if you are soliciting a place or favor, it portends you will surely obtain it.

Figs.—To dream of figs, is the forerunner of prosperity and happiness; to the lover, they denote the accomplishment of your wishes; to the tradesman, increase of trade; they are also indicative of a legacy.

Fighting.—To dream you are fighting, denotes to the lover that you will lose the object of your affections through a foolish quarrel; it also forbodes much opposition to your wishes, with loss of character and property. After such a dream, you are urgently recommended to quit your present situation, because such a dream indicates that you will not prosper in it; to the sailor, it denotes storms and shipwreck, with disappointment in love.

Fire —To dream of this subtle element, denotes health and happiness to the lover, marriage with the object of your affections, and many children; it also denotes that you will be very angry with some one on a trifling occasion. To dream you see burning lights descending as it were from heaven, is a very bad sign indeed. It portends some dreadful accident to the dreamer, such as being hanged, losing your legs, getting into prison, or other strange accidents. To the lover, it also denotes the loss of the affections of your sweetheart; to the tradesman, bad success in business. To dream that you are burnt by fire, denotes great danger, and that enemies will injure you; to the sailor, storms and shipwreck.

Fishing.—To dream you are fishing is a sure sign of sorrow and trouble. If you catch any fish, you will be successful in love and business; if you catch none, you will never marry your present sweetheart, nor succeed in your present undertakings; if they slip out of your hands after you have caught them, the person you marry will be of a roving disposition, and some pretended friend will deceive you.

Fingers.—To dream you cut your fingers, if they bleed, is a very good omen; and your sweetheart will prove kind and true; you will get money from a quarter which you least expect, and be successful in your enterprise. If you dream they do not bleed, then it denotes damage by a variety of accidents; that lawsuits will attend you, and that you will be unsuccessful in most of your pursuits; in love, you will not succeed with your present sweetheart, who prefers another.

To dream you lose your fingers, denotes the loss of friends, servants, goods, trade, and sweethearts.

Feasting.—To dream you are at a feast, denotes that you will meet with many disappointments, particularly in the thing which you are the most anxious about. In love it forebodes much uneasiness between sweethearts; and to them which are married it foretells undutiful children, with many heavy losses.

Fleas.—To dream you are tormented with these insects is unfavorable.

Flood.—To dream of a flood, shows that you will meet with much opposition from rich neighbors, and that a rich rival will attempt to alienate the affections of your mistress. To the tradesman, it denotes lawsuits, loss of business, and a prison; to the sailor, it denotes much success by sea, but danger on shore; to the farmer, it indicates loss of cattle and a dispute with his landlord. To dream you are drowned in a flood, denotes that you will quit your native land, and after many hardships and perils, return to it rich and happy; that you will marry a pretty woman and have fine children.

Flowers.—To dream you are gathering flowers, is a very favorable omen: expect to thrive in everything you undertake, and that you will be successful in love, marry happily, and have beautiful children. Should they wither under your hands, then expect heavy losses in trade: that your sweetheart will die; or, if you are married, that you will lose your husband or wife, and also your favorite child.

Flying.—To dream you are flying, is a very excellent omen; it foretells elevation of fortune; that you will arrive at dignity in the State, and be happy. If you are in love, your sweetheart will be true to you; and if you marry you will have many children, who will do well, and be very happy. It indicates that you will take a long journey, which will turn out advantageous to you.

Foretelleth surely toil and trouble,
Yet perseverance will not fail
O'er toil and trouble to prevail.

Miser.—To dream that you are a miser, and hoarding up money, foretells affliction, either personal or relative, and probably death.

Misery.—Dreaming that you are in great misery on account of some calamity that has befallen either your sweetheart, partner in life, or relation, denotes that you may expect some important event occurring which will be deeply interesting to you.

Mole.—To dream that you see moles and mole-hills, is a good dream; expect that you will receive something that you have long desired to obtain, either riches or honors; or else the possession of your sweetheart in marriage.

Monkeys.—To dream of these mischievous creatures, is ominous of evil; they announce deceit in love, undutiful children, malicious enemies, and an attack by thieves.

Mad Dog.—To dream that you meet a mad dog, denotes that you will be fortunate in any undertaking in which you are engaged; and that success will crown your efforts.

Melons.—To dream of melons, to sick persons is a prognostic of recovery, by reason of their humidity or juicy substance.

Molestation.—To dream you are molested by some one in any enterprise in which you are engaged, foretells that you will be successful in love affairs, or in the transaction of business.

Monarch.—For any one to dream of being raised to the dignity of a monarch of a nation, is a prognostication that sorrow and unhappiness will be experienced by such a one.

Money.—To dream of receiving money, is a good omen; in love, it foretells a speedy marriage and many children. If you dream you lose money, it is a proof you will be deceived in love, and will be unsuccessful in some favorite pursuit. To dream you are paying money, foretells the birth of a son destined to cut a great figure in life.

Moon.—To dream of the moon is a very favorable omen; it denotes sudden joy, and great success in love.

Monster.—To see a monster in the sea, is not good; but out of the sea, every fish and great monster is good.

Monuments.—If a sick person dreams of seeing monuments, he or she so dreaming will quickly recover. For the healthy to dream of monuments, is a sign of good luck.

Mother.—To dream you see your own mother living, signifies joy. To see your mother dead, signifies misfortune.

Mountains.—To dream you see steep and craggy mountains, presages difficulties in accomplishing your designs; if you ascend them and gain the top, you will be successful in whatever you undertake, become very rich, and arrive at great honors in the State. To a maid, they denote that she will marry a man who will become rich and powerful, and that her children will be people of great consequence.

Mulberries.—To dream of mulberries is of good import; to the maiden, they foretell a speedy and happy marriage; to the lover, constancy and affection in his mistress; they also denote wealth, honors, and many children; they are particularly favorable to sailors and farmers.

Murder.—To dream that you see a murder committed, indicates that you will shortly have the pleasure of welcoming one whom you had not expected to see again in this world.

Murderer.—If any one dreams of being a murderer, be sure you will be slandered and calumniated by one who has been a professed friend and admirer previously.

Mushrooms.—To dream that you are gathering mushrooms, indicates that your lover, or partner in life, is not so fondly attached to you as you wish. To dream that you are eating mushrooms, signifies that something of an unpleasant nature is about to happen.

Music.—To dream you hear delicious music is a very favorable omen, promising joyful news from a long absent friend; to married people it denotes sweet-tempered children; in love it shows that your sweetheart is very fond of you, is good-tempered, sincere, and constant. Rough and discordant music foretells trouble, vexation, and disappointment.

Musician.—For one to dream of being a musician, who understands nothing of the art of music, is an indication that the dreamer will have peace and comfort in the domestic state.

Nails.—To dream your nails are growing long is very good, and denotes riches, prosperity, and happiness; great success in love; a good industrious husband or wife, with dutiful children; it also foretells that you will suddenly receive a sum of money that will be of great use to you.

Nakedness.—To dream you see a man naked, signifies fear and terror. To dream you see a woman naked signifies honor and joy, provided she be fair-skinned and handsome. But if crooked, old, wrinkled, or otherwise ill made, and black withal, it signifies shame, repentance, and ill-luck.

Nation.—To dream of being in another nation denotes wonderful news from abroad; to dream of receiving friends from other nations, denotes that you will make an important scientific discovery.

Navigation.—If any one dreams that he is sailing in a boat, and recreating himself without fear, he will have comfort and success in his affairs, but if the water be tempestuous, it telleth out contrarily. To dream of being in a ship or boat, and in danger of oversetting or shipwreck, is a sign of danger, unless the party be a prisoner or a captive, and in that case it denotes liberty and freedom.

Nectarines.—To dream of nectarines is ominous of strife between friends, of riches to the farmer and tradesman, of infidelity in lovers, of children to the married, of bad weather to the sailor, and to the poor they announce plenty and increase of wages.

Needle.—For a female to dream she is busy with the needle, indicates that she is about to take a journey either of pleasure or necessity. For one of the male sex to dream he is using the needle (except he be a tailor) forebodes a series of distressing and unpleasant matters are about to harass and perplex him.

Negroes.—It is not good to dream of negroes, unless they be singers or dancers, or otherwise making merry. To dream of seeing negroes in a church is ominous of evil.

Neigh.—To dream you hear horses neigh, augurs that you will have new and powerful friends, who will do you much service.

Neptune.—For a person to dream about this ocean deity is a premonition that the dreamer is about to travel by railway into some distant part of the country.

News.—To dream you have heard some strange news, denotes that some one, either your sweetheart or your partner in life, is in danger of being afflicted, and the subject of some heavy trouble.

Newspaper.—For a young female to dream she is reading a newspaper, indicates that her sweetheart is about to propose the day for her marriage. For a married person to dream of reading the newspaper, prognosticates sorrow and trouble in the family.

Nest.—To dream of finding a nest, signifies domestic bliss with one whose acquaintance you will form suddenly. If there are young in the nest, you will have a large family; if eggs only, enemies are around you; if broken eggs, they will cause you great woe.

Nettles.—To dream you are gathering nettles, denotes that some one has a very favorable opinion of you, and that a proposition will shortly be made to you that will have an important bearing on your future life. For one in the married state to dream of gathering nettles indicates that your domestic circle will be blessed with concord and harmony more abundantly than heretofore.

Night.—To dream of a dark night, signifies trouble and perplexity; but if you have some light from the moon in your dream, you will come safely out of your annoyance.

Night Birds.—To dream of any kind of night birds, as the owl, bittern, and bat, is ominous, and those who have such dreams should undertake no business on the day following. He that travels by sea or land, and sees in his dream any of these birds, will fall into a great tempest or into the hands of thieves.

Night-hag.—For a woman to dream of a night-hag, denotes that she will be much slandered by some one she deems her friend. For a man to dream of this nonentity, is a sign that some woman is endeavoring to do him an injury.

Wrestling.—To dream that you are wrestling with an antagonist, denotes that a serious accusation will soon be brought against you, which will require all your skill and ingenuity to disprove.

Wrinkles.—To dream that you are grown old, and your face is full of wrinkles, is an indication that you will be subject to much affliction and not live to a great age.

Wrist.—To dream that your wrists are broken is very good; it foretells that you will marry your present lover and be happy.

Writ.—For a person in trade to dream of having received a copy of a writ, signifies that the business of such person will be greatly extended, and prosperity will smile upon him.

Writing.—To dream you are writing an epistle, either on business, love or friendship, signifies that you will be astonished to receive a communication from one whom you had long believed to have departed from this world.

Yacht.—For a young man to dream that he is sailing in a yacht, having an amiable young woman by his side, denotes that he will have to experience many vicissitudes and interruptions before he succeeds in establishing himself as the accepted lover of the lady whom he has fixed his mind upon; but, after being successful, his married life will be characterized by conjugal felicity and domestic enjoyment.

Yard-arm.—For a young woman, the sweetheart or the wife of a sailor, to dream that she sees her lover or her husband tied to the yard-arm or about to be flogged, denotes that she will shortly be gladdened by receiving a letter from him intimating that he is in good health, and has been lately promoted to a higher post.

Yarn.—To dream you are spinning yarn, signifies you are about to receive a handsome present from one whom you have a great affection for. For a young woman to dream that she is spinning yarn, denotes that she will be married in a short time to a good-natured and good-tempered young man.

Yarrow.—To dream you are gathering this plant for medicinal purposes, denotes that you will hear of something that will give you extreme pleasure and delight.

Yew Tree.—To dream of a yew tree, is an indication of the funeral of a very aged person, by whose death the dreamer will derive some benefit, or a protecting hand among the relations of the deceased person. For a young man to dream that he is sitting with his sweetheart under the branches of a yew tree, denotes that their love-course will not run smoothly, but will be interrupted by bickerings and strife, and at last finally broken off.

Yeast.—If a young housewife dreams that she is kneading bread with yeast, she may conclude that she will be the mother of a large family of children.

Yoke.—To dream you are groaning under some heavy yoke, which is almost unbearable, signifies that you will be gladdened by receiving tidings that a considerable legacy has been bequeathed to you.

Youthful.—For an aged person to dream of being again youthful and active, is an indication that death will soon call the dreamer from this world.

Zebra.—To dream that you are admiring this beautifully-striped animal, denotes that you are about to change your situation in life for one in which you will be called upon to exercise much patience and forbearance.

Zeal.—To dream that you are manifesting much zeal in a cause which you have espoused, signifies that you will have a great disappointment in a matter in which you were very sanguine of success.

Zodiac.—To dream of the twelve signs of the zodiac, shows, to a man, that he will be a great traveller, and sail once round the world; to a woman, that she will wed a foreigner who is deeply skilled in astronomy.

NOTE.—For continuation of dreams, interpretations of fancies, hallucinations, etc., and the explanation of Physiognomy, Necromancy, the Hieroglyphics of the hands, face, and body, the knowledge of to-morrow, how to prevent evil, to grow good crops, make money, have a prosperous and healthy family, and prevent the evil actions of others affecting our welfare and happiness, consult "Thomas Jefferson's Oracle of Destiny," the next book of this series, No. 101.
